2010 Social Work Congress & Capitol Hill Visits

Four hundred social work leaders, ranging from age 22 to 85, convened in Washington, DC on April 22-23 for the 2010 Social Work Congress to explore issues facing the profession. Larry Betcher, President, and Stacey Skala Orr, Executive Director, represented NASW Oregon Chapter. While in DC, Larry and Stacey spent a day on Capitol Hill to lobby on behalf of the Dorothy Height and Whitney Young, Jr. Social Work Reinvestment Act.

2010 Statewide Conference

On March 12th, 2010 nearly 200 NASW members, professionals, students and exhibitors gathered for the 2010 NASW Statewide Conference. The theme of the event was “Treating the Trauma of our Times,” featuring keynote speaker Ghislaine Boulanger, Ph.D. and several breakout sessions featuring local experts on topics ranging from addictions to alternative and expressive therapies to PTSD.

The highlight of the event was the NASW awards luncheon. Dr. “Peg” Miller was awarded the Public Citizen of the Year award by nominator Diane Roleandt. Jessica Ritter was awarded the Helen Catlin Memorial award by nominator Joe Gallegos. Lucrecia Suarez was awarded the Social Worker of the Year award by nominator Monica Beemer. Kristine Nelson was awarded the Lifetime Recognition award by nominator Pauline Jivanjee. Janet Kusyk was awarded the national NASW Gilman-Wells award (2009) by nominator Stacey Skala Orr. Larry Betcher was recognized as the outstanding NASW Chapter volunteer of the year.

Happy summer NASW members! This is my last column as Executive Director, which is hard to believe. During my last month, I am focusing my efforts on preparing the Chapter staff and volunteer leadership for the transition. Under the circumstances, I am grateful for the amount of time that I have, as it is hugely important for me to ensure as smooth a transition as possible.

I attended a recent session on legacy and succession planning at the NASW Annual Leadership Meeting. In addition to the concrete task of preparing a transition plan (or what I like to call, putting my brain on paper), it hadn’t occurred to me how important it is to reflect on your legacy and accomplishments as you prepare for a career transition. In a nutshell, it is rewarding to pass the torch to the next leader. I am proud of our Chapter’s current standing and the growth we’ve experienced over the past four years. I also believe that executive transitions create an opportunity for an organization; and with that I wish the incoming President (Lisa Bates) and the new Executive Director the best in as they set their vision, goals and direction in supporting the work and growth of our Association.

All of our accomplishments are a direct result of our membership, which make everything that we do possible, and the efforts of our hard working staff and volunteers. First, I would like to thank everyone who has served as a Board or Committee member over the past four years. I have been grateful for the opportunity to work alongside such supportive, committed, and visionary volunteers that are truly the backbone of this organization. Thank you for your service.

Second, I would like to acknowledge our Program Coordinator, Janet Kusy, who has been with NASW for nearly 20 years and is the recent recipient of the NASW Gilman-Wells award. Janet coordinates our CE Approval Program and all Chapter sponsored workshops/conferences. She is an important part of our institutional memory and chances are, if you have ever volunteered for NASW or called the office over the past two decades, you have been on the receiving end of Janet’s warmth. I would also like to thank our Administrative Assistant, Kathy Blakeman, who has been with NASW for six years. Kathy answers our phones and manages the office, maintains our website, works with our advertisers, and coordinates our DVD programs. Working in a small office requires flexibility, humor, and the willingness to engage in a variety of tasks that aren’t part of your official job description, such as copier/printer and computer maintenance (Kathy), post office/bank runs and watering the plants (Janet), and greeting whoever walks through the door in our lovely yet quirky building. You really get to know your staff in such an environment, and I thank you both.

I do need to pay a special tribute to our Chapter lobbyist, Maura Roche. Maura has been our contracted lobbyist for many years now, and has remained loyal even when we could no longer afford her standard rates. It is an understatement that Maura is...
Aging Network – New Leadership & Summer Break
by Cindy Rapp, MSW

The Aging Network is excited to announce new Co-Chairs, Sally Stevens and Shemaya Blauer. Both Sally and Shemaya are active members of the Steering Committee and have graciously stepped up to share their leadership skills. Prior Co-Chairs Sibelia Chaiyahat and Cindy Rapp will remain involved with the Steering Committee, along with Marc Bernard and Megan Lange.

The April CE Breakfast Forum on “Difficult Behaviors in Alzheimer’s Disease and Other Dementia” was a huge success. Our deepest appreciation to a fantastic guest speaker Heike Sommer, PMHNP; to Courtyard at Mt. Tabor Senior Living Community, a very generous host/sponsor; and, to everyone who attended to make this a wonderful educational, networking event.

The Aging Network plans to take a break from CE Breakfast Forums during the summer months, but stay tuned for more information about the evening event we are planning for mid-September which you won’t want to miss!

If you would like to learn more about the Aging Network, the Steering Committee and/or to be on the e-mail list for future events, please send an e-mail to: agingnetwork@gmail.com.

Announcing the NASW Oregon Chapter Social Worker Speakers Bureau

Become part of the speakers bureau and inspire/educate others by sharing your story and knowledge of social work!

The objective of this speakers bureau is to educate the general public, other professionals, and students about the social work profession and to recruit new social workers. Presentation topics will vary depending on the audience’s/speaker’s interests. As part of the presentation, speakers will also have the opportunity to share their own story/experiences with audiences.

As a speaker, you will:
- Make a difference in how the public and media perceive social workers, the profession and social work issues
- Promote social work as a career option for high school and college students
- Increase your public speaking experience

How do you become a Speaker?
Go to the NASW Oregon Chapter website (http://nasworegon.org/about-us/speakers-bureau/) to fill out an application and learn more about the program.

Legal Issues in Social Work Practice (3 CEs per session)
Friday, June 4th (Portland – Emanuel Hospital, Lorenzen Auditorium)

You may register for individual sessions or both.

Session A: 9:00am-12:15pm (3 CEs)
The Ethics of Documentation, Reporting & Board Complaints
This workshop will educate social workers about improving the quality of client care and the reduction of risk. Participants will learn about legal and ethical issues relating to documentation, abuse reporting, and how to avoid common Board complaints. It will also discuss how to ethically cooperate with the investigation process. This workshop has been approved by The Board of Licensed Social Workers for 3 Ethics CEs.

Session B: 1:15pm-4:30pm (3 CEs)
Risk Management in the Digital Age
This workshop is designed to provide practical guidance for day-to-day legal issues faced by social workers, including: update on the OARs, access to confidential records, how to avoid risk in your practice, and considerations in the digital age such as the use of email with clients and electronic records. Appropriate forms that can be incorporated into practice will be provided. This workshop has been approved for 3 CEs.

Healthy or Hostile? The Importance of the Workplace Environment
Thursday, June 10, 2010
1:00 PM - 2:00 PM ET
Credit Hours: 1 CEU(s)
Workplace bullying is a prevalent problem in the American workplace. Workplace bullying has negative consequences not only for individual targets of hostile interactions, but for the productivity of the entire workplace. Social work leadership can play an important role in identifying and diminishing corrosive interactions and promoting positive workplace environments.

GESTALT THERAPY TRAINING CENTER—NORTHWEST

BUDDHIST PSYCHOLOGY AND CONTEMPORARY GESTALT THERAPY: BRINGING MINDFULNESS TO PSYCHOTHERAPY PRACTICE

Weekend Intensive Training Program begins fall 2010
Gestalt therapy contains essential elements of Buddhist psychology and mindfulness, including a focus on increased awareness of authentic lived experience. This integrative training will expand your therapeutic repertoire, teaching a psychotherapy system that guides the clinical application of mindfulness methods. It will also help to develop or deepen your own meditation practice, allowing cultivation of more attention and presence, and increasing your capacity to stay with ‘what is’ and trust the present moment.

SENIOR FACULTY EVA GOLD, PSY.D. & STEVE ZAHM, PH. D., bring 30 + years of experience and a passion for teaching to the training process. They have authored and co-authored numerous articles and chapters on Gestalt therapy theory and method, and have presented nationally and internationally on many topics including Buddhist psychology and Gestalt therapy. They have both studied Buddhist psychology and practiced Vipassana (Insight) Meditation for many years.

GESTALT THERAPY TRAINING CENTER—NORTHWEST is approved by the AMERICAN PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION to sponsor continuing education for psychologists. GTTC-NW maintains responsibility for this program and its content.

Legislative / SWPAC Updates

Update from the Legislative Committee: Plans for the 2011 Session

By Jessica A. Ritter, Ph.D., MSSW
Legislative Committee Chair

Now that the special session is over, the Legislative Committee is already gearing up for the next long session in 2011! We have decided to introduce two pieces of legislation, which we are very excited about.

One will be a House/Senate Joint Memorial which will urge the United States Congress to convene a White House Conference on Children. The Child Welfare League of America is currently spearheading a campaign to get the White House to hold this Conference. This is from their website:

“This White House Conference on Children and Youth would be the first since 1970. Three decades have passed without the White House bringing the focus of the nation to examine the state of our children. CWLA is calling on Congress to authorize this conference so that the next President will convene a conference in 2010. We must once again use the power of the White House to organize a national conference on the welfare of our children to establish national goals for improvement in the subsequent ten years.

A White House conference on Children and Youth is needed to focus the attention of the nation on the children who, after all, are our responsibility. The conference will examine the greatest needs and set the country on a path to reform. The commitment of the President and the power of the White House is needed to once again make vulnerable children a national priority and point the way to significant reform and improvements.”

For more information on this campaign, please visit: http://www.cwla.org/advocacy/WHCthreesteps.htm

The second piece of legislation will be a House/Senate Joint Memorial which will ask the United States Congress to pass, and the President of the United States to sign, S.686/H.R. 795 the Dorothy I. Height and Whitney M. Young, Jr. Social Work Reinvestment Act at the federal level. This Memorial will lay the groundwork for state level legislation in later years, which will include asking for a Social Work Taskforce charged with examining the workforce needs of social workers in Oregon. The Taskforce would then forward a package of recommendations to the legislature to address workforce shortage, recruitment and retention issues in the profession. Some possible solutions would likely include, a student loan relief statute for practicing social workers. For more information on the federal legislation, please visit: http://www.socialworkers.org/pressroom/2009/pressroom/2009/020409.asp

If you are interested in being a part of these efforts please contact Jessica Ritter at jritter@pacific.edu and start coming to our monthly meetings.

Adoption-competent training
Available wherever you are

Workshops, online classes, and certificate program

Adopted and foster children often have histories of abuse and neglect and present special needs to their families and to the professionals working with them.

This series of advanced, evidence-based courses prepares professionals (mental health, adoptions and child welfare, education, health) to address special needs such as trauma, neglect, and impaired neurodevelopment and to strengthen adoptive and foster family systems.

This program was developed by Portland State University with the support of Casey Family Services, Casey Center for Effective Child Welfare Practice.

The Social Workers Political Action Committee (SWPAC) is gearing up for the 2010 election cycle. The Oregon primary election has just passed, and the general election will be here before you know it. SWPAC brings the voice of social work to the political arena in Oregon. We conduct interviews with candidates to find out where they stand on a variety of issues: mental health, healthcare access, social services, child welfare, tax fairness, budget, justice reform and other issues important to our professional values and the communities in which we work and live.

SWPAC makes ballot measure and state candidate endorsements that you can trust each cycle to reflect issues of concern to social workers! In 2008, SWPAC raised and distributed $8,500 in campaign contributions to political candidates. By pooling contributions from social workers across the state, SWPAC is able to give modest, yet significant, campaign assistance to targeted candidates who support social work values. It is our goal to do even better this election cycle by doubling our support to candidates. SWPAC is a great opportunity for social workers to pool our resources so that we can give significant contributions in targeted races on behalf of the profession. To change the face of the Oregon Legislature takes a targeted approach. It isn’t enough to support your local legislative candidates; instead we must work together, as a unified profession, to impact the state as a whole.

Most of us don’t have time to follow politics closely, but be rest assured that SWPAC is. Please help us reach our goal by contributing to SWPAC today so that we can have a stronger voice and impact.

Donate now and get every cent back!

Each calendar year, Oregonians can use their political tax credit - line 39 of your Oregon State Tax form - to contribute a total of up to $50 (single) or $100 (joint) to state political action committees. Sadly, fewer than 5% of Oregonians make use of the political tax credit. A tax credit is like making a loan to SWPAC until you pay your taxes and then you get it back—either because your refund is increased by $50/$100 or because the taxes you owe is decreased by $50/$100.

Yes! I will help to elect Officials & Legislators who support social work values.

Lane County District Seeking Chair

The NASW Lane County District, which typically hosts monthly CE brown bag events in Eugene, is seeking a new Chair after June 30th. If you are interested in this opportunity, please contact Stacey at stacey@nasworegon.org or call 503-452-8420.

NASW would like to thank our outgoing chair, Erica Freeman Hernandez, for all of her efforts over the past four years!

Rogue Valley District Report
Submitted By Gretchen Thiel, District Chair

1. Accomplishments/activities:
   a. The District held a Social Work Month celebration on March 31, 2010, in which approximately 60 social workers from the valley attended a complimentary lunch and program. Speakers were Stacey Skala Orr and Steve Neuberger, who served as Southern Oregon community organizer for Health Care for America NOW. The district sponsored a raffle to create a book scholarship for local MSW students; the raffle raised $300 and the district met that amount for a total of $600. We will offer two $300 scholarships for the 2010-2011 academic year based on financial need. These will be awarded in June.
   b. In collaboration with the state chapter, we co-sponsored a workshop on ethics on April 30, 2010 in Medford. Twenty-three people attended the workshop.
   c. We continue to meet monthly during the noon hour at the Medford Library to plan our activities.

2. Current projects/goals:
   a. At the Social Work Month celebration we surveyed attendees regarding their interest in participating in our local planning activities and to learn of ways we can better support our social work community. We will be using the survey results to reach out to members who would like to be more active in our district. Many attendees requested additional local continuing education opportunities; we are currently working on a plan for providing additional opportunities in Fall 2010 and into the new year.
   b. Many of the attendees appreciated the networking opportunity of the Social Work Month celebration. The district planning committee is looking at ways to offer additional opportunities for networking. The previous method of social networking one night a month has not been well attended, though, so we will brainstorm other options.

Community Forums (Medford)
Hosted by NASW Rogue Valley District

Wednesday, June 9, 2010
Rogue Valley Medical Center, Carpenter Room 1
2825 E Barnett Road, Medford, Oregon
Lunch Forum: Noon-1:30 p.m.
Evening Forum: 5:30 – 7:00 p.m.

Learn about and ask questions regarding new non-clinical licensing options, mandated licensure for those in clinical practice, and title protection for the title “social worker.”

Supervision Group

Ongoing for clinicians needing to meet LCSW or LPC requirements as well as for those seeking to continue post-licensure consultation. Individual supervision in addition to group is also available. Our focus is to be of service to your total professional development, not just the refinement of clinical skills.

We offer a broad combined clinical background serving adults, adolescents, children and families. Additionally we provide a specialized care focus for trauma survivors and those with addiction issues. Experienced working within managed care, employee assistance, public agency and hospital systems and working with both short term and intensive longer term psychotherapy models.

Legal Spotlight

New “Legal Issue of the Month” Articles Available from NASW Legal Defense Fund

Social and Conscience Clauses (May 2010)

Various jurisdictions have passed or are considering legislation or regulations that address conflicts that occur when licensed health care professionals find that, for reasons of conscience, they are unable to provide certain types of services to clients. The areas that these laws have primarily targeted include services related to reproductive rights, end-of-life care and services to gay, lesbian and transgender persons. The reach of “conscience clause” laws is troubling and has the potential to be much broader and encompass a wide range of social work services and personal values. This raises significant and compelling questions about the nature of a profession and the duty of social workers to the public when personal conflicts arise. This Legal Issue of the Month article will address the topic of conscience clauses that may be applicable to professional social workers and reviews the ethical and legal implications.

Mental Health Parity and Addictions Equity Act Interim Final Rules (April 2010)

On February 2, 2010, the three federal agencies responsible for implementing the Paul Wellstone and Pete Domenici Mental Health Parity and Addictions Equity Act of 2008 (Parity Act) jointly issued a set of interim final rules (Interim Parity Rule) with details as to requirements for health plans subject to the new law (75 Fed. Reg. 5,410, 2010). The relevant regulatory agencies are the U.S. Departments of Labor (DOL), Health and Human Services (HHS) and the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). The language of the Interim Parity Rule is duplicated in identical regulations applicable to each of the agencies (26 CFR § 54.9812 (IRS), 29 CFR § 2590.712 (DOL), and 45 CFR § 146.136 (HHS)). The much-anticipated regulations provided a 90-day public comment period, ending May 3, 2010. Although the Interim Parity Rule is effective April 5, 2010, it will be generally applicable to health plans with plan years beginning on or after July 1, 2010. This LDF Legal Issue of the Month article provides a summary of the regulations to aid in understanding whether patients’ rights are being effectively protected under the new law.

Disclosing Confidential Information to Social Workers’ Business Associates (March 2010)

Clinical social workers have raised many questions regarding the disclosure of clients’ confidential mental health information to business associates who use the information to assist in the operations of a social work practice. This Legal Issue of the Month article will review the newest changes to the status of business associates according to the Health Information Technology for Economic and Clinical Health (HITECH Act), which amended HIPAA, as well as the applicability of state social worker confidentiality laws and the NASW Code of Ethics (National Association of Social Workers, 2008). A sample business associate contract is also provided.

Social Workers SPEAK

Social workers have been portrayed on television and in films for decades. However, despite the positive and life-affirming work that social workers do in reality, their image in the media is often stereotyped. Recently, NASW launched www.SocialWorkersSpeak.org. This engaging, social media web site gives you the latest news on how social work is portrayed in the media and offer social workers a chance to comment on media happenings in their communities. We will also give you tips on how to get involved and help shape the media perception of social work.

Social Work Reinvestment Initiative (SWR) Update

Social Work Reinvestment (SWR) Initiative Update: 2009-2010
Accomplishments

PR & Marketing

NASW has contracted with MAP Communications, and a PR & Marketing advisory committee was established as part of the Social Work Reinvestment Initiative. During social work month, NASW issued a statewide press release and a letter to the editor/op-ed media campaign. Currently, MAP Communications is creating a media tool kit and companion training to build internal media capacity for NASW. In addition, MAP Communications is developing a NASW press kit which will profile social work in Oregon, the Association, and highlight local NASW members from a range of backgrounds and areas of expertise for media outreach.

Recruitment

NASW prioritized outreach to high school students this year, and sent out an electronic outreach kit to high school career centers consisting of a fact sheet, brochure for high school students, information about the new NASW Speakers Bureau, list of key websites, and a link to the NASW On Any Given Day video.

NASW and local social work education programs plan to host an exhibit booth this fall at the annual Oregon School Counselors Association conference. In addition, we are exploring advertising opportunities in the association’s newsletter/conference program.

In addition, a NASW Newer Professionals Initiative is currently being explored as a way to support, engage, and recruit newer professionals. A proposal will be submitted to the NASW Board of Directors this summer/fall.

Stakeholder Engagement

The second annual “Future of Social Work Event” was held in February 2010 featuring keynote speakers Laura van Dernoot Lipsky and Danette Burchill. Over 100 students and practitioners attended, and the event was a great success.

Research

Don Schweitzer and a team of PSU doctoral students continued analysis on the 2008 survey of Oregon’s Social Workers. A variety of journal submissions have been submitted based on the findings. The survey instrument was revised based on feedback from first version, and will be sent out again on a regular timeline to ensure continued collection of state specific workforce data.

In addition, all social work education programs in Oregon have agreed to use a standardized set of questions in their alumni survey and follow a standardized timeline with the goal of sharing relevant workforce data of newer professionals related to demographics, salaries, student loan debt, and job satisfaction. The survey instrument is currently being finalized.

Social Work Reinvestment Taskforce Next Steps

The Oregon Social Work Reinvestment Taskforce held a planning retreat in April 2010 to reflect on accomplishments and set goals for 2010-2011. It was agreed that workforce issues prevailed as the priority goal for the initiative, and that many other goals/tasks related to recruitment, retention, and research fall under this umbrella goal. The PR & Marketing Committee will continue to serve as a Chapter advisory committee in working with MAP Communications. The Oregon SWR Taskforce will continue to meet every other month to focus on workforce related goals, while working closely with the NASW Legislative Committee on legislative concepts that support SWR goals and using the 2011 Legislative Day of Action event as a SWR theme.

Eventually, the goal of SWR is to pursue funding to promote the establishment of a collaborative entity to oversee and coordinate social work workforce research and reinvestment activities in the state.

Behavioral Health Career Opportunities

Cascadia Behavioral Healthcare creates hope and opportunity for people with mental illnesses and addictions, blending innovation and determination with competence and compassion. We envision a future when everyone with a mental illness or addiction will recover.

You can learn more details about specific positions and apply by visiting our website at: www.cascadiabh.org
In this workshop you will be introduced to gentle, non-invasive touch as a way to release somatic holding patterns and uncover suppressed emotions. And, you will learn intentional dialogue as a means of helping the client to verbalize these feelings.

Using techniques of the Rubenfeld Synergy Method®, discover the power of listening touch, develop a deeper understanding of how we lock up our feelings with body tension, and learn how touch with dialogue can open gateways for contacting and expressing emotions. Experiment with the potency of words and discover what happens when a client starts to release holding patterns of their body while being empowered with words.

Through hands-on practice, you will have the opportunity to understand the client’s experience first-hand and learn new therapeutic skills.

$275 Workshop fee. Breitenbush accommodations/meals separate. www.breitenbush.com

Call Breitenbush 503-854-3314 to register. 503-307-3456 for more information.

Registration will be limited. (13 CEU’s available for mental health & bodywork practitioners)

Rob Bauer, LCSW, MRS, a body-centered psychotherapist, conducts workshops across North America, including Esalen and Omega Institutes. He is a senior faculty member of the Rubenfeld Synergy training, and is a designated a Master Synergist. He is a skilled couples therapist, trained under Harville Hendrix, and certified in Imago Relationship Therapy. He is featured in the best seller, Bodywork, by Thomas Clair.

Social Work Congress participants debated challenges and offered solutions on the following issues:

- using technology to serve clients in an ethical and practical manner
- adopting business and management practices to help sustain social services
- improving recruitment and retention efforts with an emphasis on debt reduction
- promoting the unique benefits and valuable training provided by social work education
- expanding public, government and industry influence through organizational collaboration
- identifying the next generation of social work leaders among Gen X and Gen Y professionals

At the conclusion of the two-day meeting, attendees voted for 10 imperatives to advance the profession over the next 10 years. A simultaneous Virtual Student Social Work Congress included 400 social work students from 16 different schools who watched the proceedings online and voted on the presented imperatives. Participating students emphasized a need to increase salaries, the number of educational grants and scholarships, and debt forgiveness programs. They also advocated for strong mentoring programs, career ladders, and succession plans.

The following imperatives were voted upon and approved:

Business of Social Work – Infuse models of sustainable business and management practice in social work education and practice.

Common Objectives – Strengthen collaboration across social work organizations, their leaders, and their members for shared advocacy goals.

Education – Clarify and articulate the unique skills, scope of practice, and value added of social work to prospective social work students.

Influence – Build a data-driven business case that demonstrates the distinctive expertise and the impact and value of social work to industry, policy makers, and the general public.

Influence – Strengthen the ability of national social work organizations to identify and clearly articulate, with a unified voice, issues of importance to the profession.

Leadership Development – Integrate leadership training in social work curricula at all levels.

Recruitment – Empirically demonstrate to prospective recruits the value of the social work profession in both social and economic terms.

Retention – Ensure the sustainability of the profession through a strong mentoring program, career ladder, and succession program.

Retention – Increase the number of grants, scholarships, and debt forgiveness mechanisms for social work students and graduates.

Technology – Integrate technologies that serve social work practice and education in an ethical, practical, and responsible manner.

Ethics Consultations Available to Members

As a service to members, NASW provides ethics consultations for current members. Ethics consultations are a resource for members who are experiencing an ethical dilemma. We do not provide advice or tell members what to do. However, we do point out relevant areas of the Code of Ethics and provide dialogue and considerations that allow members to make ethical decisions. We may also refer members to the appropriate areas if their questions do not appear to be related to ethics but are more related to legal issues or standards of practice.

Members may request a consultation from the National NASW Office of Ethics & Professional Review during the following days/times:

DVD: Boundary Issues and Dual Relationships in Social Work

Presented by Dr. Frederic G. Reamer
Filmed in Portland on March 2, 2007

Is it ever appropriate for social workers to maintain relationships with clients after services are terminated? Should social workers ever disclose personal information to clients? How should social workers respond to gifts and social invitations from clients, or handle unexpected encounters with clients? Using extensive case material, Dr. Reamer provides a comprehensive overview of boundary issues and dual relationships that arise in various human service settings. Participants will learn how to identify and respond constructively to complex boundary issues, protect clients, prevent professional malpractice, and avoid liability.

very much respected and effective in the legislative/political arena. We are lucky to have her, and our members should feel rest assured that we have the best of the best representing us in light of how crucial a sound and effective lobbyist is for our Association.

I would also like to acknowledge the hard work of our MSW student intern this year, Susanna Rempel. It has been a pleasure to have her in the office this year, and she truly has done a remarkable job with staffing our Social Work Reinvestment (SWR) Initiative and introducing exciting new initiatives for the Chapter such as a Speakers Bureau and a framework/proposal for a Newer Professionals Initiative. I wish her luck as she finishes her dual MSW/MPH program and embarks on her career.

Lastly, I would like to thank and acknowledge our outgoing President, Larry Betcher. Larry has served on the Board for seven consecutive years and has been a tremendous leader for this organization. I am grateful for his support and leadership; a good working relationship/partnership between the Executive Director and the Board President is crucial, and I have been fortunate to work alongside someone with such integrity, knowledge, passion, and humor.

Thank you all for your support; and for the impact of your work with individuals, families, communities, and systems. It has been my pleasure to represent and serve you.

Newsletter Article Submissions

The National Association of Social Workers (NASW), Oregon Chapter is committed to providing relevant and timely products and resources in our quarterly newsletter to our practicing social work members. We are seeking authors to write articles on a range of topics of interest to our members, according to the following guidelines.

Articles must provide information that is useful, relevant, and of interest to social work practitioners from a diverse range of practice settings. Ideas for topics might include new practice modalities, new clinical research, case studies, or how social workers might address prominent social issues. We also seek contributions related to diversity/cultural competency, advocacy and social justice, ethics and private practice.

Creative, evocative, and humorous yet thought-provoking content is appreciated. We prefer articles that provide comprehensive information in a succinct manner. This should include brief vibrant paragraphs, the avoidance of jargon and overly complicated terminology, clear and concise sentences, and when necessary bulleted or listed items. In-text citations should be used, with no more than five references. Resource lists may be included.

Article length should be between 350 to 1,000 words. All articles must be submitted in a Microsoft Word document to stacey@nasworegon.org

Articles must be accompanied by the author’s full name, highest degree and any licenses. An e-mail address for the author(s) must be provided for print with each article.

From the President . . .

- Our relationships with key stakeholders have improved, particularly with the leadership of local social work education programs. For example, we have a representative from each program actively participating with the Social Work Reinvestment Initiative.

- Under Stacey’s leadership, the NASW has shifted to developing/introducing legislation and is taking a lead role in working with coalition partners.

Betsy Clark recently remarked that an Executive Director should go out in their prime. Stacey clearly hasn’t reached her prime and will continue to be a rising star in the social work community for years to come. On behalf of the chapter, thanks for all you have done for the chapter. You have left us in a much better place and have touched the lives of many. Good bye and good luck.
